

benefits for business leaders

You already know how to manage effectively. If it were only you, you'd just do it in your head. But you've got well-meaning managers and employees each adding a bit of friction, each missing their marks a bit, causing rework and slowing the enterprise down. How do you help everyone, from direct reports down to line workers, manage with the skill of someone with years more training and experience?

What you need is a simple, effective way to help people think clearly - to understand the goal and current situation, build action plans that make sense, see the relationship between the parts, and make decisions that work for everybody. You need Alisar Charting.

With Alisar Charting software, you don't need a Ph.D. or a dedicated specialist to automate the art of management. You'll quickly be generating on-time actions, coordinated workflows, automated accountability tracking and outcomes you'd be proud of!

Not only is it the best project management tool you've ever seen, not only the best communication system there is, but it's also a way to coordinate the large management initiatives. Alisar can help automate your team, your department, your division and your entire organization.

Key benefits:

1. Achieve higher project success rates, sustained success and reduced rework	Alisar Charting is more than just software. Alisar Charting uses a planning and management process that has helped companies such as American Woodmark, ADP, Boehringer Ingelheim, Dale Carnegie Training and many more reach higher levels of business success.
2. Manage your people for greater productivity without micro-managing	See your team's to-do's at a glance. Review an employee's workload across all projects. Quickly identify who is producing results – and who isn't. Empower your people to resolve issues and make decisions as you would have it done.
3. Delegate more, but still have early warning of project issues	Project reports show the goal, current progress, schedule and accountabilities, at a glance, in plain English and in timelines. Pending and late actions are color-coded. Sub-projects let managers and executives drill down to the detail as needed.
4. No irrelevant projects	Eliminate distracting and non-productive activities. Easily see why you are doing each project. Each project is tied to a measurable business goal. Irrelevant projects are obvious, and are weeded out from the start.
5. Avoid "hidden" IT expenses and delays	Alisar Charting is delivered to you over the internet and always available to you – wherever and whenever you need it. There are no servers to buy and maintain, and no increased IT salaries. Your teams can be up and running within one business day. Our affordable subscription model lets you pay for only what you need, as you need it.
6. Eliminate budget overruns with good project design up-front	Our design process tailors each project to your unique goal and situation, and helps you find ways to reach the goal within your means.
7. Reduce due date slippage	When conventional processes fail, the Chart Wizard helps your team quickly invent a new process more likely to bring the project in on-time.
8. Control who sees what with Secure Access	For each and every action and goal in your organization, you can control who sees it, and who can update it. Confidential projects stay confidential.
9. Expert Project Management training and consulting available if needed	Get proven, expert advice on building effective projects or get problem projects back on track. Take problems and bottlenecks that have been slowing down your progress or keeping you from meeting your goals and let Alisar help you find ways to reduce or eliminate them.
